English, maths and digital skills are vital to help you succeed in your learning and career. Without knowing it these skills are play a part of everyday life, whether it is reading through Facebook posts, sorting out the change from your shopping or doing your online banking.

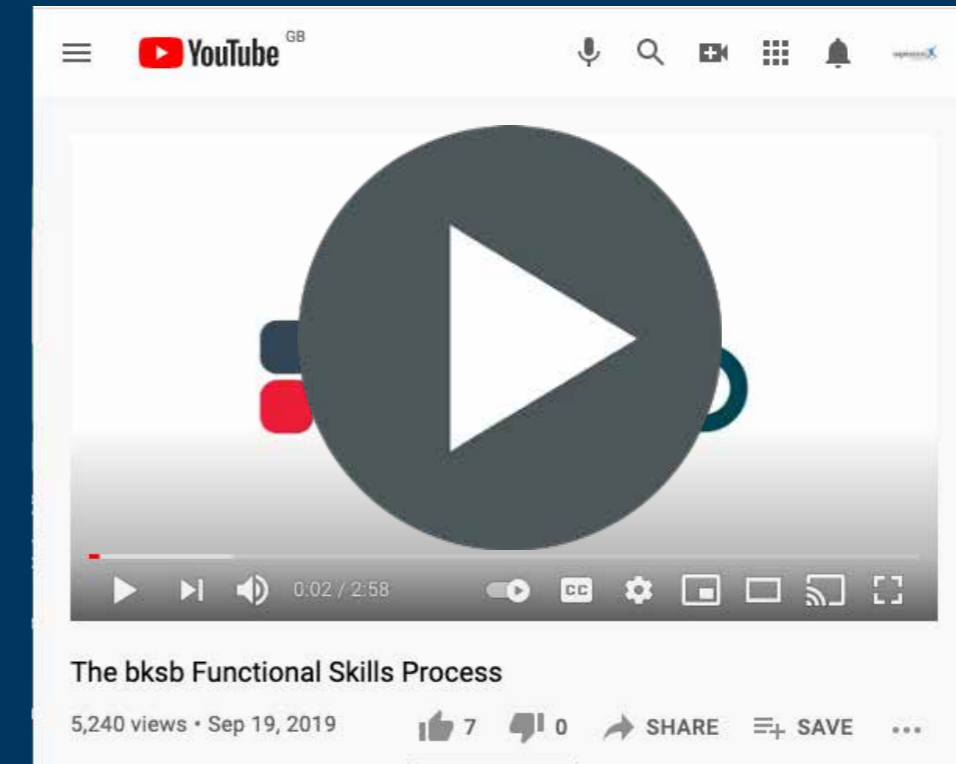

Even if you're not a fan of these subjects, it's important to recognise the role they play and why you should not ignore them.

In addition to the support you will receive by your coach, we use an online system called BKSB to help and prepare you to undertake your functional skills exams. Even if you are exempt from taking these exams, this tool can be used to help you expand your skills.
